

Having a Moment

SHORT AND SWEET

Director Sean Metelerkamp's "Die Antwoord—Zef Side" may be the most watched video to come out of YouTube Play, the short-film biennial hosted by the Guggenheim Museum (go to page 56 to read our story on the South African provocateurs), but the other 24 finalists warrant a look too. In Jillian Mayer's anxiety-inducing film, "Scenic Jogging," the performance artist-filmmaker chases a series of landscapes projected onto city streets. "They don't actually exist," explains Mayer. "These are the images a computer manufacturer sends along as generic screen savers, so even if I reach my goal, it's a fake ideal." Also not to be missed: Monica Cook's stop-motion film, "Deuce," and Terri Timely's surreal "Synesthesia." youtube.com/user/playbiennial
