

HYPERALLERGIC

Art Movements

Mandy El-Sayegh is now represented by Lehmann Maupin, the 2019 Guggenheim Fellowships have been announced, and more.

Jasmine Weber April 18, 2019

Sanford Biggers, “Many Waters” (2019), Archival digital print on Hahnemuhle Torchon with chine collé, 20 X 21¼ inches (courtesy of New York Foundation for the Arts)

Art Movements is a weekly index of developments centering the people of the arts and culture sphere. Listen to our weekly podcast of the same name on iTunes.

Accolades

The American Academy in Rome has named the winners of its 2019–20 Rome Prize and Italian Fellowships. [Artforum]

Sanford Biggers, Karl Kellner, and Min Jin Lee were inducted in the Hall of Fame of the New York Foundation for the Arts. [NYFA]

Lee Bul was awarded the annual Ho-Am Prize for the Arts. [Artsy]

The estate of the late artist Katthy Cavaliere has awarded $100,000 grants for Australian women working in performance and installation art to Frances Barrett, Giselle Stanborough, and Sally Rees. [Artforum]

Aretha Franklin was posthumously awarded a Pulitzer Prize. [NYT]

The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation has announced the 168 scholars, artists, and writers who will receive this year's Guggenheim Fellowships. [Guggenheim]

Arthur Jafa, “Love Is The Message, The Message Is Death” (2016), Video (color, sound), 7 minutes 25 seconds (courtesy the artist and Gavin Brown’s enterprise, New York/Rome © Arthur Jafa, 2019)

The Mike Kelley Foundation has awarded $400,000 in grants to 10 Los Angeles art organizations: 18th Street Arts Center; California State University Dominguez Hills; Dirty Looks Inc.; Echo Park Film Center; Equitable Vitrines; Ford Theatre Foundation; IF Innovation Foundation; Los Angeles Poverty Department; Pomona College Museum of Art; and the Huntington Library. [Art Daily]

A haunting photograph by John Moore, depicting an asylum-seeking Honduran mother being detained by an ICE agent while her daughter cries, has won the World Press Photo Award.
[Art Daily]

The Pollock-Krasner Foundation has named the winners of its $3.17 million in grant funding. [ARTnews]

Yto Barrada, Arthur Jafa, and Rayyane Tabet are the nominees for this year's Prix International d'Art Contemporain. [ARTnews]

Patrizia Sandretto Re Rebaudengo was awarded the Independent Curators International's Leo award for arts patrons. [ARTnews]