

Art Industry News

artnet News, February 12, 2019

ART MARKET

Armory Show Announces Monumental Works – The New York fair will present nine large-scale works in its “Platform” section, which is organized by Sally Tallant, the new director of Queens Museum. The exhibiting artists are: Andreas Angelidakis, Siah Armajani, Tania Candiani, Ryan Gander, Iris Häussler, Xaviera Simmons, Jessica Stockholder, Super Taus, and Pascale Marthine Tayou. (Press release)

1stdibs Moves Into New Bricks-and-Mortar Space – The online marketplace is relocating its New York showroom from Midtown East to the more art-world-friendly Terminal Stores building in Chelsea. More than 50 exhibitors are setting up shop there, including Inga Davidsson of Area ID, who says that she had to close her store in Little Italy when the rent tripled. 1stdibs’s former space at 200 Lexington Avenue will now be home to 50 dealers who have signed on with Incollect, a 1stdibs competitor. (New York Times)

Artists Without Galleries Get a Spotlight in Mexico – Salón ACME, which ran alongside Zona Maco and the Material art fairs in Mexico City last week, offered something a bit different: it presented works by artists who are mostly self-represented. This year, the platform mounted its largest selection of open call submissions to date: 50 projects chosen from more than 1,000 applications. (The Art Newspaper)