

Beat the Heat With These 19 Summer Group Shows on View Now in New York

From Chelsea to Brooklyn, here are 19 gallery shows in the city that you don't want to miss this summer.

Caroline Goldstein, July 4, 2018

19. “Sedimentations: Assemblage as Social Repair” at the 8th Floor Through Saturday, December 8

Michael Kelly Williams, M'Boom (2016).
Courtesy of the artist.

A group show of artists who “employ strategies of reuse” in their work, this show includes work by El Anatsui, Maren Hassinger, Elana Herzog, Samuel Levi Jones, Mary Mattingly, Lina Puerta, Michael Rakowitz, Jean Shin, Shinique Smith, Mierle Laderman Ukeles, Roberto Visani, and Michael Kelly Williams. The exhibition’s title is a reference to Robert Smithson’s 1968 Artforum essay, “A Sedimentation of the Mind: Earth Projects,” in which he compares the erosion of the earth to that of the mind.

*The 8th Floor, 17 West 17th Street
Tuesday–Saturday 11 a.m.–6 p.m.*