If you're taking your talents to South Beach, you should know that Miami is more than just this swath of sunshine, sand and vanity. The south Florida city is filled with great museums, street art, restaurants, Art Deco architecture and ample enough diversions to keep any and everyone occupied for weeks and months. Here are some of our favorites.

Institute of Contemporary Art

ICA is a fabulous (and fabulously free) art museum in Miami. The collection here is challenging but intriguing, focusing on 20th and 21st century art by such luminaries as Louise Bourgeois, Zoe Leonard, Pepe Mar and Raymond Pettibon, among others. The museum also puts on stellar temporary exhibits (but visitors must pay for those).
