SPOTLIGHT

164

THE LONG GAME

The past two years have laid bare the artworld's ambivalence toward change—but reminded us of the many dealers playing the long game to ensure it does.

172

GROWTH MINDSET

Despite the challenges of the pandemic, the future's looking brighter as the global art market rebounds.

174

COUNTING COUP

Cannupa Hanska Luger blends centuries of American colonialism, belonging and myth to tell a bigger story about just what it means to be a Native American today.

176

BODY OF WORK

Artist Louis Fratino's visceral work explores queerness through intimate gestures.

180

THE ART OF, AND FROM, HEALING

For British Nigerian painter Tunji Adeniyi-Jones, the restorative power of art is viscerally realized through his latest work.

184

VISCERAL CONVICTION

Anicka Yi engages your senses through fragrance, pheromones and unexpected materials.

186

THE WORK IS ONGOING

Queens Museum President and Executive Director Sally Tallant offers her notes toward a situated museum.

188

THE MUSEUM IS A BATTLEGROUND

The push for institutional change at the top will be led from below.
