

The Best Art Shows to See in Miami, April 2025

Big-name galleries have started to roll out the heavy hitters for the spring art season.

By Douglas Markowitz March 27, 2025

Installation view of "Home Body" at Primary

The spring/summer art season really kicks into gear in April. Big-name galleries have already started to roll out the heavy hitters, and major museums are debuting important exhibitions: a major feminist artist at ICA Miami, an important Argentine avant-gardist surveyed at PAMM. A few shows featuring Los Angeles artists are responding to the recent wildfires, while locals are also in top form this month. Find the best art shows to see in Miami this April below.

Sanford Biggers at David Castillo

Celebrated Los Angeles-born artist Sanford Biggers is staging a solo show at David Castillo, his fifth with the gallery. Inspired by his travels in Mexico, "A Tesseract, A Talisman" features tapestries and ceramic sculptures in which the artist explores how his personal experience intertwines with greater historical events. Through Saturday, June 14, at David Castillo, 3930 NE Second Ave., #201, Miami; 305-573-8110;