

CULTURED

The 12 Must-See Art Shows To Kick Off Summer in the Hamptons

From Dia Bridgehampton to Duck Creek, this is your sign to schedule a day of show-hopping on the East End this summer.

Eve Eismann May 25, 2026

Installation view of Sanford Biggers' Unsui Cloud Forest, 2025. Image courtesy of Parrish Museum and Brown University.

“Sanford Biggers: Drift”

Where: Parrish Art Museum, Water Mill

When: Through Sept. 13

Why It’s Worth A Look: The show highlights Biggers’s expansive practice through the motif of a cloud. Cloud-like sculptures drift through the gallery space while quilt works from Biggers’s “Codex” series take on puffy, cumulus forms. “Drift” will also feature a site-specific sand installation drawing inspiration from Buddhist mandalas.

Know Before You Go: This is the artist’s first major solo exhibition on the East End and is part of the Parrish’s year-long exhibition series examining American values on the nation’s semiquincentennial.